I. CATALOG COURSE DESCRIPTION

This advanced-year graduate course will examine social welfare issues and policies with the goal of preparing students to engage in policy practice focused on promoting economic and social justice for individuals, families, and communities. This course examines the values and socio-political forces that contribute to the definition of the social problems, the populations affected, the evaluation of the impacts and unintended consequences of the current policies and programs, and proposals for policy reform.

II. COURSE OVERVIEW

The purpose of this course is to engage students in policy practice in the substantive area of policies related to promoting economic and social justice for individuals, families, and communities. The course will focus on helping students to understand the role of values, ideology, preferences, and assumptions in the policy making process; to consider how political and economic structures, special interest groups, and other contextual factors affect policy development, policy implementation, and program delivery; and to analyze policies, programs or conditions that need changes as well as the opportunities for such change. Attention is given to problem definition, characteristics of populations at risk, and ways that policy issues are shaped through legislation and political processes.

Students will learn how to follow a line of inquiry, which will help them to answer fundamental questions about any proposed policy or program change:

1. What are the underlying values and socio-political forces that have shaped this policy?
2. Who is it supposed to help and how?
3. Will it do what it is supposed to do?
4. Do we want it? (Implications of costs and benefits?)
5. Is it feasible? How could we get it?

III. PLACE OF COURSE IN PROGRAM

This course has a pre-requisite 19:910:504 (SWPS I) and the rest of the Foundation year courses. This course is one of the Advanced Contemporary Policy (ACP) courses, any one of which is required for Advanced Year students.

IV. PROGRAM LEVEL LEARNING GOALS AND THE COUNCIL OF SOCIAL WORK EDUCATION’S SOCIAL WORK COMPETENCIES

The MSW Program at Rutgers is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE). CSWE’s accreditation standards can be reviewed at www.cswe.org

In keeping with CSWE standards, the Rutgers School of Social Work has integrated the CSWE competencies within its curriculum. These competences serve as program level Learning Goals for the MSW Program and include the following. Upon completion of their MSW education students will be able to: demonstrate ethical and professional behavior; engage in diversity and difference in practice; advance human rights and social, economic and environmental justice; engage in practice informed research and research informed practice; engage with individuals, families, groups organizations and communities; intervene with individual, families, groups organizations and communities; and evaluate practice with individuals, families, groups, organizations and communities.

This course will assist students in developing the following core competencies in both the Management and Policy (MAP) and Clinical Social Work (CSW) specializations.

Competency 3: Advance Human Rights and Social, Economic and Environmental Justice

Management and Policy (MAP)

Social work practitioners engaged in management and policy are committed to assuring that the work of the organization or community in which they practice, and the policies for which they advocate and implement, respect and advance the rights of all those served, all those employed therein, and all those impacted by that work. They are aware of major laws and court decisions that affect such rights in their work. They are knowledgeable about social inequalities, human rights violations, and other forms of oppression in the communities they serve and their root causes.

Accordingly they are able to develop and implement policies and training to assure such rights are fully accepted and integrated into the organization and its culture. They have the skills to understand how policies oppress the rights of others and recognize how these polices may not advance social, economic, or environmental justice; and how such policies may be amended to protect and further human rights and social, economic and environmental justice. Social workers... engaged in management and policy practice reflect on their reactions to these injustices and discuss them with their colleagues and others in a professional manner.

Clinical Social Work (CSW)
Clinical social workers are fully grounded in the ethics of the profession, recognizing the dignity and worth of all individuals and the need to advocate for social, economic and environmental justice. Clinical social workers recognize the need to assess clients’ physical environment for the availability of safe shelter, food, water, and air. Clinical social workers are adept at recognizing where social and structural forces marginalize people and thus work to advocate for policies that promote justice, advance human rights, and promote environments in which all individuals can thrive.

Assessment of Competency 3 will be based on the Advocacy Assignment using the Knowledge dimension

Competency 5: Engage in Policy Practice

Management and Policy (MAP)

Social work practitioners engaged in management and policy fully understand the process through which social welfare policy is developed, the underlying values and ideologies that guide policy choices, and the impacts that social welfare policies may have on individuals, families, organizations, and communities. They recognize their roles and responsibilities in participating in policy development, implementation, and analysis. They engage in policy practice at the mezzo and macro level to promote equality, social justice, and human rights. They recognize how policies may enhance or limit disproportionality in life outcomes or status such as morbidity, mortality, poverty, incarceration and others. Social workers engaged in management and policy practice consistently reflect on the unintended consequences of policies and can develop strategies to address these consequences.

Clinical Social Work (CSW)

Clinical social workers recognize how policies and laws can constrain or enhance individuals’ life opportunities. Clinical social workers understand that policies and laws can create movement toward equal distribution of social and economic resources or can work against such equity. Clinical assessments include attention to the constraining or privileging aspects of local, state, federal and international policies and laws, and these assessments consider how each may impact their clients’ well-being. Clinical social workers recognize how their work with individuals, families and communities must inform policymakers and legislators. Practitioners of clinical social work monitor policies and laws for their unintended consequences and for their equitability. Clinical social workers understand their role in implementing social policy and recognize their professional responsibility in advocating for policy reform.

Assessment of Competency 5 will be based on the Advocacy Assignment using the Knowledge dimension.
Assessment of Competencies/Program Level Learning Goals: Because this course focuses on providing you with the knowledge, skills, and values for you to advance human rights and social, economic, and environmental justice and engage in policy practice, it has been selected be to part of the School of Social Work overall assessment program of the social work competencies/program level learning goals. This means that one of the course assignments, the Advocacy assignment, has been designed to assess your attainment of these competencies.

V. COURSE LEARNING GOALS

Course level learning goals primarily relate to the aforementioned competencies/program level learning goals as the course addresses policy analysis skills and competencies as well as addresses human rights and social, economic and environmental justice through the study of the evolution of the US welfare state and the emergence of the social work profession. (Note: Faculty, please add brief statement that highlights the alignment of the course learning goals with the competencies/program level learning goals above)

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to: (Note: Faculty please use active language, per Bloom’s taxonomy)

1. To understand how political values, ideologies, and power influence the formulation of social welfare policies.
2. To understand the processes of social policy development including how practitioners and citizens can participate in the policy making process; how the political, social, economic, and organizational factors influence policy formulation and implementation; and the relationship between state and federal policy.
3. To be familiar with the major domains of social welfare policies in the U.S. that influence the economic well-being of individuals, families, and communities, and the characteristics and scope of the primary policies within each domain
4. To critically apply conceptual frameworks and empirical research in the examination of social policies, services, and state and federal funding mechanisms for myriad underserved populations.
5. To understand the potential effects of social policy on individual, family, and community well-being, particularly how policies affect marginalized, oppressed, and otherwise disadvantaged populations.
6. To examine the role of policy practice and the reciprocal relationship between social policy and social work practice. This will include developing an understanding of how to apply social work values, ethics, skills and interventions to advocate for social and economic justice.

VI. SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK MISSION STATEMENT AND SCHOOL WIDE LEARNING GOALS

The mission of the School of Social Work is to develop and disseminate knowledge through social work research, education, and training that promotes social and economic justice and strengthens individual, family, and community well-being, in this diverse and increasingly global environment of New Jersey and beyond.

School Wide Learning Goals. Upon graduation all students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate Ethical and Professional Behavior;
2. Engage Diversity and Difference in Practice; and
3. Engage, Assess, and Intervene with Individuals, Families, Groups, Organizations, and Communities

VII. REQUIRED READINGS

All required readings are posted on the Canvas course site. For some readings please click on the web link in the syllabus (or on the Canvas site) because they include interactive features that may not be captured in a PDF.

Students are expected to read a major newspaper on a regular basis (e.g., The New York Times; Washington Post) so that they are current with relevant federal and state issues that may be related to the course.

Rutgers University Libraries has begun an institutional subscription to The New York Times, which provides full access to NYTimes.com and The New York Times app. Unlike other Rutgers databases, all users must create personal accounts in order to access this resource. After clicking the Connect button in the site https://www.libraries.rutgers.edu/indexes/nyt-digital, and arriving at The New York Times website, select “Create Account” to create a NYTimes.com personal account. After creating your account, you may use it to log into NYTimes.com and The New York Times app from any location on any device.

Other required readings (separate from textbook) are available through the Rutgers University Library “Reading List” that is integrated into your Canvas course. To find your readings:

Click on the “Reading List” tab in the Canvas navigation bar to the left hand side of the course. Please note: this list contains links to articles and other required readings separate from the textbook (if applicable). Please follow the syllabus and/or Canvas Readings and Resources page in each module for more specific required readings and resources for each week (including textbook/media).

For further instructions please click here for a video tutorial

VIII. COURSE LOGISTICS

Course format, attendance, and participation
Students are expected to attend class regularly and to complete readings on a timely basis so that they can participate effectively in class discussions. More than three absences may result in the failure of the class. This class will begin at its designated time on the schedule and run for 90 minutes. In addition to the 90 minutes of synchronous (i.e., live) session, the class will require an additional 50 minutes of asynchronous work. Students are expected to attend class regularly and to complete readings on a timely basis so that they can participate in and contribute to class discussion. Students are also expected to be on time, and stay for the entire class.

Receiving course messages through e-mail and e-mail etiquette
Students are expected to regularly check their RU e-mail account for course messages. The instructor will regularly communicate with students by e-mail and students are responsible for making sure they are receiving these communications.

Accessing readings and all other course materials
All readings, assignment instructions, the syllabus, and other materials for this course are posted on the Canvas learning platform. In addition, e-mails and announcements from the instructor will be sent through Canvas to the student’s RU e-mail account. Students must have a Netid and Password to access these sites and are responsible for making sure they have access before the semester begins.

Teaching methods
A variety of teaching methods are utilized in the 90 minutes of synchronous session including lectures, discussions, class exercises and assignments, videos, audio clips, and readings. The course outline contains a list of the required and suggested readings for each course topic. Students are expected to have read the required readings prior to class and to be prepared to discuss them and participate in class discussions. Suggested readings are listed as resources for students to pursue as considered necessary; thus they are not required. The 50 minutes of asynchronous work will include a variety of activities including watching and reacting to documentary films, listening and reacting to podcasts, and reading and reacting to newspaper articles featuring current events related to this course.

Respect for others in the classroom
Social work courses often cover material and topics that can be provocative and polarizing, with room for multiple and diverse perspectives. We all must treat each other with respect when opinions are shared. Language should be used that recognizes diversity and is respectful of others. It is also imperative, as we struggle with complex political, personal, and social issues, that we not silence others by assuming that there are "politically correct" lines of thought that cannot be challenged. Nonetheless, as social workers, our opinions and conversations should always be in line with the code of ethics of the Social Work Profession. https://socialwork.utexas.edu/dl/files/academic-programs/other/nasw-code-of-ethics.pdf

IX. DIVERSITY STATEMENT

The School of Social Work supports an inclusive learning environment where diversity and individual differences and identities (including race, gender, class, sexuality, religion, ability, age, etc.) are respected and recognized as a source of strength. Students and faculty are expected to respect differences and contribute to a learning environment that allows for a diversity of thought and worldviews. Students who experience any concern around these issues should speak privately with the professor immediately.

X. COURSE ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

All assignments are to be completed by scheduled due dates. Assignments should be turned in through Canvas. Late assignments will be penalized, at the professor’s discretion, and may not be accepted. If a due date conflicts with a religious observance, please consult with the professor well before the assignment’s due date. All written assignments must be typed and adhere to the required structure. Some assignments may be checked for originality through the Turnitin plagiarism detection software program.

Three tasks contribute to the grade:

<td>Weekly activities</td>
<td>Students will complete the designated activity for the week during the 50 minutes of asynchronous work. Each weekly activity is indicated in the detailed course outline and includes one of the following activities: 1. Watching a documentary film 2. Listening to a podcast 3. Reading one newspaper article featuring a current event related to this course. All students will be required to post one newspaper article in one of the weeks in which the weekly activity is an analysis of a current event (i.e., 3, 4, 7, 10, 13, 14). The first day of class students will select one week in which they will be searching and posting a newspaper article relevant to this course. Students posting an article are not required to post a reaction. The same rubric will be used to grade the work of both students searching and posting articles and students reacting to one of the articles posted in a given week. After completing each activity students will write up a brief reaction to the documentary film, podcast, or newspaper article (reaction should be no longer than 1 page, double-spaced). These reactions should</td>

be posted in the Canvas Weekly Activity tab by 6:00 p.m. the day of class, and should answer TWO of the following questions:

- What is the social problem explicitly or implicitly discussed in this documentary film, podcast or newspaper article? (no more than two sentences; if more than one social problem, focus on one that you consider most significant)
- What is the policy that is explicitly or implicitly discussed in this documentary film, podcast or newspaper article? (no more than three sentences; if more than one policy, focus on one that is more relevant to economic justice issues)
- How is this policy amplifying or reducing economic justice for individuals, families, and communities? (no more than three sentences)
- What is one proposal for change in this area? (no more than three sentences)

Reactions to weekly activities will be graded on a 2-point scale, based on the following rubric:

- 0: Assignment was not submitted
- 1: Assignment was submitted but response was late, incomplete, and/or incorrect.
- 2: Assignment was submitted by the deadline, and response was complete and correct.

X. COURSE EVALUATION

Rutgers University issues an on-line survey that evaluates both the course and the instructor. This survey is completed by students toward the end of the semester, and all answers are confidential and anonymous. An additional mid semester evaluation may be distributed as well.

XI. ACADEMIC RESOURCES

Library research assistance
The Rutgers University library system (http://www.libraries.rutgers.edu/) contains a very impressive collection of resources and materials, many of which can be accessed on-line. Dr. Karen Hartmann is the social work the social work librarian on the New Brunswick Campus karen.hartman@rutgers.edu  p. 848-932-6104 ; Natalie Borisovets is at Newark, Dana Library natalieb@rutgers.edu973-353-5909; Katie Anderson is at Camden, Robeson Library: Katie.anderson@rutgers.edu  856-225-2830. They are all available to meet with students. See the following resource guide developed specifically for social work policy courses: http://libguides.rutgers.edu/socialworkpolicy

Writing assistance
Success in graduate school and within the larger profession of social work depends on strong writing skills. Several resources are available to help students strengthen their professional and academic writing skills. Writing assistance is available to all MSW students as described below.

New Brunswick campus
All MSW SSW students (NB, Camden, Newark, IW, online and blended) are eligible to access writing assistance at the New Brunswick Learning Center. Online tutoring may also be available. https://rlc.rutgers.edu/student-info/group-and-individual-academic-support/writing-coaching

Newark campus
The Newark writing center is available for MSW students on the Newark campus by appointment. http://www.ncas.rutgers.edu/writingcenter

Camden campus
The Camden learning center provides writing assistance for MSW students on the Camden campus. http://learn.camden.rutgers.edu/writing-assistance

Additional online resources
APA Style
All students are expected to adhere to the citation style of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 7th edition (2020). It can be purchased at APA Manual 7th Edition. The Purdue OWL website also provide assistance with APA style https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/

XII. ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

As per Rutgers University Academic Integrity Policy, “Students are responsible for understanding the principles of academic integrity and abiding by them in all aspects of their work at the University. Students are also encouraged to help educate fellow students about academic integrity and to bring all alleged violations of academic integrity they encounter to the attention of the appropriate authorities.” All SSW students are expected to review and familiarize themselves with the RU Academic Integrity Policy in its’ entirety.

As per Rutgers University Academic Integrity Policy, “The principles of academic integrity require that a student: make sure that all work submitted in a course, academic research, or other activity is the student’s own and created without the aid of impermissible technologies, materials, or collaborations; properly acknowledge and cite all use of the ideas, results, images, or words of others; properly acknowledge all contributors to a given piece of work; obtain all data or results by ethical means and report them accurately without suppressing any results inconsistent with the student’s interpretation or conclusions; treat all other students ethically, respecting their integrity and right to pursue their educational goals without interference. This principle requires that a student neither facilitate academic dishonesty by others nor obstruct their academic progress; uphold the ethical standards and professional code of conduct in the field for which the student is preparing.”

Students should review all types of Academic Integrity Violations per the RU Academic Integrity Policy. Below are some of the more common violations, as articulated in Rutgers University Academic Integrity Policy:

Plagiarism: Plagiarism is the use of another person’s words, ideas, images, or results, no matter the form or media, without giving that person appropriate credit. To avoid plagiarism, a student must identify every direct quotation using quotation marks or appropriate indentation and cite both direct quotation and paraphrasing properly according to the accepted format for the particular discipline or as required by the instructor in a course. Some common examples of plagiarism are: Copying word for word (i.e. quoting directly) from an oral, printed, or electronic source without proper attribution; Paraphrasing without proper attribution, i.e., presenting in one’s own words another person’s written words or ideas as if they were one’s own, regardless of the nature of the assignment; Incorporating into one’s work graphs, drawings, photographs, diagrams, tables, spreadsheets, computer programs, or other non-textual material from other sources, regardless of format, without proper attribution.”
“Cheating: Cheating is the use or possession of inappropriate or prohibited materials, information, sources, or aids in any academic exercise. Cheating also includes submitting papers, research results or reports, analyses, and other textual or visual material and media as one’s own work when others prepared them. Some common examples are: Prohibited collaboration: receiving research, programming, data collection, or analytical assistance from others or working with another student on an assignment where such help is not permitted; Copying another student’s work or answers on a quiz or examination; Using or having access to books, notes, calculators, cell phones, technology, or other prohibited devices or materials during a quiz or examination; Submitting the same work or major portions thereof to satisfy the requirements of more than one course without permission from the instructors involved; Preprogramming a calculator or other device to contain answers, formulas, or other unauthorized information for use during a quiz or examination.; Acquiring a copy of an examination from an unauthorized source before the examination; Having a substitute take an examination in one’s place; Submitting a purchased or downloaded term paper or other materials to satisfy a course requirement; Submitting as one’s own work a term paper or other assignment prepared, in whole or in part, by someone else.”

Any faculty member or academic administrator who becomes aware of a possible academic integrity violation must initiate a formal complaint with the Office of Student Conduct and the SSW’s Academic Integrity Facilitator (Laura Curran at lacurran@ssw.rutgers.edu). The AIF deciding the case (the “adjudicator”) shall notify the accused student of the allegation in writing or by electronic communication within fifteen working days of the time the faculty member becomes aware of the alleged violation.

Once the student has been notified of the allegation, the student may not drop the course or withdraw from the school until the adjudication process is complete. A TZ or incomplete grade shall be assigned until the case is resolved. For more information, see RU Academic Integrity Policy and Procedures for Adjudicating Academic Integrity Violations.

To promote a strong culture of academic integrity, Rutgers has adopted the following honor pledge to be written and signed on examinations and major course assignments submitted for grading: On my honor, I have neither received nor given any unauthorized assistance on this examination/assignment.

XIII. DISABILITY ACCOMMODATION

Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact the appropriate disability services office at the campus where you are officially enrolled, participate in an intake interview, and provide documentation: https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/documentation-guidelines. If the documentation supports your request for reasonable accommodations, your campus’ disability services office will provide you with a Letter of Accommodations. Please share this letter with your instructors and discuss the accommodations with them as early in your courses as possible. To begin this process, please complete the Registration form on the ODS web site at: https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/registration-form

XIV. OTHER RESOURCES

Our school is committed to fostering a safe, productive learning environment. Title IX and our school policy prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex, which regards sexual misconduct — including harassment, domestic and dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking. We understand that sexual violence can undermine students’ academic success and we encourage students who have experienced some form of sexual misconduct to talk to someone about their experience, so they can get the support they need. Confidential support and academic advocacy are available through the Rutgers Office on Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance, 732.932.1181, http://vpva.rutgers.edu. Services are free and confidential and available 24 hours per day, 7 days per week.
